POLLING DAY.
MEETINGS IN PROVINCES.

A majority of the Dublin electors have long been told, and but few dissent, that the arrangements have been made for the election in the various constituencies remaining before the period entirely devoted to the duties of the electors. The literature has accordingly approached the polling day, heavy task as it is, which will be the eve of their usual meetings at the office. The official notice of polling districts and stations is being distributed throughout the city of Dublin, North and South County, and Rathfriland and Rathfarnham.

to disregard any tendency you may have to stomach and liver trouble. One of these important organs, if neglected sometimes leads to serious illness. Even if you are no unfortunate devotee of fads, derangements of the digestive system are sufficiently troublesome themselves to demand careful attention immediately they appear. There are more depressing ailments than bilious attacks, flatulence, and constipation. If you have any tendency to these digestive complaints should make it a
